Getting a fresh start...

Time to breathe a sigh of relief. School is (or will soon be) back in session. Your concerns about how to keep your child(ren) busy during the hazy, lazy days of summer are changing.

They are morphing into concerns about trials and triumphs in IEP-land, the recess jungle, the hope that your child will be integrated into the school community, and the desire that you will be the best advocate you can be for your child.

Phew. Just reading that last sentence is overwhelming!

As parents of children with disabilities, we experience intense stress. This can complicate our lives and overwhelm us to the point of exhaustion and beyond. Now is as good a time as any to review self-care strategies we could all use to keep our sanity. After all, we're of no use to anyone – especially our kids – if we allow our stress to control our lives.

Check out these links for stress relieving and relaxation techniques ... and enjoy the rest of summer!!

Getting a fresh start in the Early Years

"Remember, the bond you develop with your babe will last a lifetime."

There really is no "summer break", no "back to school", for our little ones in Early Intervention programs. This doesn't mean they – and we – don't need a break. Even if you don't have other kids who are on summer vacation, take some time out of your kiddo's IFSP services routine to just be present with your young one.

Play hooky with your child. Remember, the bond you develop with your babe will last a lifetime. Let some down time be a part of that bond. Enjoy!

Conseguir un nuevo comienzo...

Es hora de dar un suspiro de alivio. La escuela está (o será pronto) de regreso en la sesión. Sus preocupaciones sobre cómo mantener a sus hijos ocupados durante los flojos y calurosos días de verano que están cambiando.

Ellos se están transformando en las preocupaciones sobre pruebas y triunfos en el terreno del IEP, la selva receso, la esperanza de que su hijo se integrará en la comunidad escolar y el deseo de que va a ser el mejor defensor que puede ser para su hijo.

Uf. Sólo la lectura de esta última frase es abrumadora!

Como padres de niños con discapacidades, experimentamos estrés intenso. Esto puede complicar nuestras vidas y nos dominaría hasta el punto de agotamiento y más allá. Ahora es un momento tan bueno como cualquier otro para revisar las estrategias de autocuidado que todos podemos usar para mantener nuestra salud mental. Después de todo, somos de ninguna utilidad para nadie – especialmente a nuestros hijos – si permitimos que nuestro estrés controle nuestras vidas.

¡¡Echa un vistazo a estos enlaces de técnicas de relajación para aliviar el estrés ... y disfrutar el resto del verano!!

Forward

"Recuerde, el enlace que desarrolle con su bebé va a durar toda la vida."

En realidad no hay "vacaciones de verano", no "volver a la escuela", para nuestros pequeños en programas de intervención temprana. Esto no quiere decir que ellos-y-nosotros no necesitemos un descanso. Incluso si usted no tiene otros niños que están de vacaciones de verano, tomar algún tiempo fuera de la rutina de los servicios del IFSP de su pequeño para sólo estar presente con su otro niño.

Hacer novillos con su hijo. Recuerde, el enlace se que desarrolle con su bebé va a durar toda la vida. Deje un tiempo de descanso sea una parte de ese vínculo. ¡Disfruta!
